UM HEALTH SERVICE
HAS NEW PART-TIME PHYSICIAN

MISSOULA--

Dr. George H. Barmeyer, a Missoula physician whose specialty is handling the emotional and adjustment problems of young adults, will begin working part-time at the University of Montana Health Service next week, according to Dr. Robert B. Curry, M.D., UM Health Service director.

Dr. Barmeyer's unique services will be available to UM students for two hours each Wednesday from 10 a.m. until noon by appointment, beginning Oct. 16.

Dr. Barmeyer has had special training in working with young adults. He spent the past year as Senior Fellow in medicine at the University of Washington, Seattle.

Dr. Barmeyer has been in practice at Western Montana Clinic, Missoula, for many years.

He was hired by the Health Service, Dr. Curry indicated, in order to help fill the need of University students who desire the aid and advice of a medically qualified person in helping them solve their adjustment problems.
